

SECTION 3: MASTER OF COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY DEGREE

The Master of Counseling Psychology degree program provides graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary for functioning successfully as a Licensed Professional Counselor or as a Licensed Behavioral Practitioner. The general goals of the program are as follows:

1. To develop knowledge in the foundations of human behavior and development.
2. To develop an understanding and working knowledge of measurement techniques used in counseling and the helping professions.
3. To develop knowledge of social institutions as they relate to human behavior and development.
4. To develop a basic understanding of the interpretation of normal and abnormal human behavior and development.
5. To develop knowledge of counseling strategies and techniques.
6. To develop basic knowledge in the establishment of a private practice in counseling.
7. To develop basic knowledge in understanding and interpreting research as it applies to counseling.

The program results in a degree designed to develop specific professional counseling competencies. The curriculum for the MCP degree at Northwestern is comprised of a minimum of forty-five graduate hours.

The degree plan of study is located on pages 47-48.

OBJECTIVES

The Master of Counseling Psychology graduate student, upon completion of the required courses, will be able to:

1. Demonstrate a knowledge of the legal and ethical aspects of client rights and his/her own professional responsibilities.
2. Demonstrate a knowledge of human behavior as it relates to self-concept and psychological needs.
3. Distinguish and describe human behavior as it relates to life-span developmental stages.
4. Demonstrate strategies and techniques used in counseling and psychotherapy.
5. Locate, read and interpret professional counseling and therapy literature.
6. Demonstrate a working knowledge of the available professional referral services.
7. Identify the symptoms and describe the nature of different kinds of pathological human behavior.
8. Explain the influence of different kinds of groups (peer, cultural, ethnic, racial) on human behavior.
9. Demonstrate a knowledge of the several therapeutic approaches to the treatment of human pathology.
10. Demonstrate a knowledge of strategies and techniques utilized to assess human behavior.
11. Demonstrate a knowledge of the relationship of social institutions (family, government, education, religion) to human behavior.
12. Demonstrate an understanding and knowledge of human behavior from the standpoint of certain personality traits or types.
13. Administer, interpret and analyze various forms of tests (individual, group, vocational, personality).

ADMISSION TO THE PROGRAM

Residency Requirement. A minimum of twenty-three semester hours, including the final eight hours, must be earned in residence at Northwestern Oklahoma State University. The remainder of the candidate's program (nine hours maximum) may be earned at other accredited institutions. These hours, or any part thereof, may be applied to the program only if, in the judgment of the student's graduate advisory committee and Director of Graduate Studies, they contribute to the student's overall program.

Graduate Advisory Committee. An advisory committee is selected by each student in the MCP program. The committee is responsible to assist the student in planning a program of study, to compile the comprehensive exam questions, and to conduct the oral review. The advisory committee shall consist of three members of the graduate faculty, selected from the psychology department. The committee chair must hold a terminal degree. The members' consent to serve and the approval of the Director of Graduate Studies is required. The selection and approval of the committee shall be made prior to enrolling in the tenth hour of coursework.

Additional Requirements. In addition to the general requirements for admission to graduate study, students applying for admission to the MCP program are required to have had twelve to eighteen hours of graduate or undergraduate course work in psychology, sociology, social work and/or education to prepare them for graduate work in counseling.

Prior to enrolling in the tenth hour of course work, the student must apply for acceptance into the degree program through the following process:

1. Meet all general requirements established by the Office of Graduate Studies.
2. Submit three letters of recommendation from faculty members or other professionals related to the field of study.
3. Submit a written statement of career aspirations and self-evaluation of strengths and weaknesses related to the field of study.
4. Submit a sample of scholarly written work (e.g., a research paper, term paper, professional report, or publication).
5. A score that places the individual at the 25th percentile on two of the three areas (verbal, quantitative, and analytical writing) of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) or at the 25th percentile on the Miller Analogies Test (MAT) is required for admission into the MCP program. MAT or GRE scores must be on file in the graduate office before completing the final interview process. Therefore, the MAT or GRE should be taken prior to graduate school admission or during the first semester of enrollment.
6. Complete an interview with the graduate faculty of the psychology department. Candidates will be evaluated on skills such as communication (verbal and nonverbal), ability to integrate information, clarity of purpose, and orientation toward helping others.
