The force for families

We are a force for you.

Find A Career You Believe In

These are anything but desk jobs. When you join Youth Villages, you will work on a close-knit team to help children, families or former foster youth in the community. Family intervention specialists work with children with mental or behavioral health issues and their families in their homes or the children's schools. YVLifeSet™ specialists guide youth aging out of foster care into successful independent adulthood.

We provide:

The chance to grow professionally and be promoted.

A commitment to measuring outcomes and achieving high success rates.

A supportive work environment.

Work inside families' and youths' homes, not in an office.

Flexible, often non-traditional schedules.

Small caseloads for truly intensive work.

The satisfaction to see change happen.

Training in evidence-based models like CPS and TF-CBT.

Do what works. Make change happen.

Working in the community, you will become deeply involved in families' or youths' lives to get to the root of the problems they are experiencing and create lasting change. Because we diligently measure outcomes, you'll know that what you do actually makes a difference.
